

Dear Prospective Author:

We feel honored that you are considering Olive Press for the publishing of your book. Before we accept any manuscript, our company policy is to read through it to make sure the content is Biblically sound and fits the mission of Olive Press. If, for some reason, we don't accept your manuscript, we will give you suggestions on how to improve it and/or where else to try and submit it. This "first read-through" service costs $40 (as noted below).

Our payment policy is "pay-as-you-go." Each step of the publishing process (as listed below) must be paid in full before the book moves on to the next step. The last step needs to be paid in full before we will send the final version to the printer. After the book is published and made available on Amazon.com, Barnesandnobles.com, etc., you may order any number of books at your author printing cost. There is no need for you to stock up on a thousand copies. You can order just one book at a time, if you'd like. However, there are discounts for high volume orders, starting at 100 books.

At this time, Olive Press, being a relatively new company, cannot make any promises on how well your book will sell. It will be available on book distributor sites such as Amazon.com, Barnesandnoble.com, and on our website, olivepresspublisher.com and will be noted on Facebook, Twitter, Pinterest, GoodReads, etc. Spring Arbor accepts some of our books which they then get on cbd.com. We have advertized on Facebook, Google ads, and on online news publications, such as Messianic Times. We are a member of the Christian Small Publisher's Association which helps connect us with Christian bookstores and distributors. We want to be honest and not make promises we can't keep. But I tell you that we are doing our best to help with publicity and marketing.

We are trusting the Lord to guide us so the books will get into as many reader's hands as possible. We are moving ahead in faith, believing God has called us to this task, believing He has called us to further His Kingdom through the books He is inspiring His servants to write.

If you want us to consider publishing your book, e-mail your manuscript to us as an attachment in Microsoft Word form to olivepressbooks@gmail.com. In submitting your writing to us, we want to emphasize that the copyright of the file belongs to you, the author. You are not assigning us any legal rights. In submitting it, you agree that Olive Press can review it in confidence. We do not share it with any other entity. If we publish it, you, the author, retain all rights to your subsequent book. We will have no rights to it. We only make a contract with you to publish it and to retain a small amount per book for our publishing services.

Blessings on your book,
Cheryl Zehr, Director
